Applicant's Response

1. In Applicant's Response dated 04/10/2008, Applicant amendments to the claims and provides corresponding arguments that are persuasive.

All objections and rejections previously set forth are withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 20-42 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance

Claims 20, 23, 31, 33, 37-40, and 42

The closest prior art of Smith et al, Technicon et al, Schneider et al. and Korobkin et al. all teach rendering of 2D or 3D images on a computer. Smith and Technicon specifically attempt to model to the user, via an interface, furniture to be arranged in a setting prior to purchasing the products. Schnieder shows a VRML manipulation of images by using a VRML browser that can depict 3D images to the user. Korobkin teaches taking a 2D photo and merging it with a 3D scene to represent virtual reality images that depict real world items. Applicant's arguments on page 8, 12 and 14 are persuasive to the notion that the rendering method of Smith does not imply the claim as a whole that recites a first and second computer in use to derive a high quality background model of the selected and 3D background scene. Further, applicant's argument on page 13 that the Smith does not teach the "partition between a low resolution image at the client and rendering at the server" are specific and understood. Finally, applicants argument of Korobin to the client server limitations are also persuasive. Therefore, the prior art of Technicon, Smith, Korobkin and Schneider do not teach or suggest the claims as a whole and are therefore allowed over the prior art.

Art Unit: 2179

Claims 21-22, 24-30, 32, 34-36, and 41

These claims are dependent upon Claims 20, 23, 31, 33, 37-40, and 42, and are thus allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
